MOTHER'S DAY

Tomorrow, the second Sunday in May, is Mother's Day. Mother's Day has become one of the most widely observed of our popular occasions. Some think it is overly sentimental. Is there any danger of being too sentimental about our mothers, and what we can and should do for them? None whatever. They deserve all the attention, all the love and devotion that we can give them.

Most people, when their mothers pass on, have feelings of great regret for the omissions of the past; and feel that great sacrifices could have been made to make their mothers happy.

The young people are full of their plans and fun and unambiguously they never seem to notice that their mothers are tolling and slaving to give them good things. A mother will go without new clothes and good around looking shabby and she will do so there can be no doubt about it. She will go with new finery for some party, or to send the boy to college, and she will have girls sent to take it for granted that all this care and attention will be offered to them and they no more wonder thanks for it than they do for the sunshine of their father's smile.
